

GREENWICH
MERIDIAN
2⁰⁰⁰

Will you have time to explore it all?

It's only a short journey away

Travel by public transport is recommended. The Docklands Light Railway extension stops at Cutty Sark for Maritime Greenwich. It also connects with the London Underground system at Bank and Connex services at Lewisham.

Frequent Connex trains reach Greenwich in around 20 minutes from Charing Cross, Waterloo East or London Bridge stations.

There are also regular riverboat services from Westminster, Embankment, Tower and Dome Piers.

Road connections from the M25 are best via the A2 Junction or A13/A102 Blackwall Tunnel.

Admission

£7.50 National Maritime Museum
(Includes South - The Race to the Pole).

£6.00 Royal Observatory. £10.50 Combined ticket.
Kids* (16 & under) and seniors (60+) go free.

£7.50 Story of Time. £6.00 Concessions.
£20.00 Family (2+3).

£3.75 Children (5-16). Under 5's go free.
Groups (10+) 20% discount at all sites.

South - The Race to the Pole,
National Maritime Museum, opens
14th September 2000 until September 2001.

The Story of Time, Queen's House,
open until 24th September 2000.

Opening times

10am-5pm daily. Last admission at 4.30pm.
All sites closed on 24-26 December.

For further details on admission prices, event programmes, school visits and disabled access, please call our recorded information line:
020 8312 6565 or visit our website: www.nmm.ac.uk

National Maritime Museum and Royal Observatory Greenwich, London SE10 9NF.

* Kids 18 & under also go free if in full-time education.

M NATIONAL MARITIME MUSEUM

Explore 16 new galleries

Dive into the largest maritime museum in the world and you'll discover more than you could ever imagine.

Explore 16 new galleries on the past, present and future of the sea.

And navigate your way through amazing state-of-the-art exhibits, interactive displays, contemporary art and thousands of treasured items.

close of the encounters nautical kind

But hurry, there's still Maritime London and the Global Garden to explore, the inspiring sounds of Sonic Art to hear,

And plunge into everything from plant life to piracy, from sea power to slavery and from explorers to ecology. Take the helm of a catamaran, a Viking ship and a paddle steamer. Submerge yourself in the story of the Titanic.

Past, present and future of the sea

Tony Bullimore's survival suit to see, Franklin's voyages to follow... and all under a breathtaking glass canopy.

So big, it's titanic

Visit the new National Maritime Museum, Greenwich. It's 30,000 leagues better than any other day out.