The image shows a large, ornate hall, likely a museum or gallery, repurposed for a formal event. In the foreground, numerous round tables are covered with dark blue cloths and surrounded by light-colored wooden chairs. Each table is elegantly set with white plates, glassware, and small centerpieces. The floor is decorated with a large, colorful map of the world. In the background, a stage is set up with a large blue curtain backdrop. The backdrop features a central screen and is flanked by vertical banners that read "150 years anniversary 1869-2019". A yellow hexagonal logo with "150 YEARS 1869-2019" is prominently displayed at the top center of the stage. The hall's architecture includes high ceilings, large windows, and various exhibits, such as statues and historical figures, visible in the background.
