A large indoor event space, likely a museum or gallery, is set up for a formal dinner or reception. The room features a high ceiling with exposed structural elements and large windows. In the background, a stage is decorated with a large blue curtain. The curtain has a central screen displaying a video of the event. Above the screen, a yellow hexagonal logo reads "150 YEARS 1869-2019". On either side of the screen, vertical banners also read "150 years anniversary". The stage is flanked by tall, thin light stands with blue and white lights. In the foreground, numerous round tables are arranged in a grid-like pattern. Each table is covered with a dark blue tablecloth and is surrounded by light-colored wooden chairs. The tables are set with white plates, glasses, and small white cards. A large, colorful map of the world is painted on the floor, serving as a backdrop for the tables. To the left, a display case labeled "THE GREAT MAP" is visible. To the right, a large white statue of a group of people stands on a pedestal. The overall atmosphere is formal and celebratory.
