Empower

Your support helps fund critically important education and community programmes, conserve iconic UK landmarks, and care for globally important collections ensuring they are accessible for future generations.

About Royal Museums Greenwich

We are one Museum with five sites:

Royal Observatory Greenwich / National Maritime Museum / The Queen's House / Cutty Sark / The Prince Phillip Maritime Collections Centre

We are home to over 500 years of history and international culture. We are the custodians of the world's largest maritime collection and lie at the heart of a UNESCO World Heritage Site.
