

SENsory Sailors: Visual Guide

When you get to the Museum

'SENSory Sailors' is a fun workshop created for families to join in with. It takes place during the National Maritime Museum's opening hours.

SENSory Sailors starts at 11:00am.

We recommend coming to the Parkside entrance of the Museum.

When you come in

When you come inside the Museum, a member of staff will welcome you. You can let them know that you have arrived for SENSory Sailors and they will show you where to go.

By the entrance you can also find the toilets.

The Learning Space

SENSory Sailors takes place in the Learning Space and staff can help you find the room.

Head towards the galleries. The door to the Learning Space is in a corridor with lanterns hanging on the ceiling.

The door to the Learning Space is automatic. To enter, press the button by the door.

The Learning Space has a plastic floor. The windows are covered. There are some plastic benches in the space and other seating can be provided.

People you may meet

Dylan is usually the person who emailed your family about the session. He will be in the session to help.

Each month either Lynn or Aaron will run the workshop. You can see who on the webpage.

Visitor Experience staff wear blue uniform. They also wear a badge and carry a radio.

Anyone who works at the Museum can help if there are any problems.

During SENSory Sailors

The Learning Space and activities will be set up from 11am. Your family can arrive from this time.

There will be some drinks and snacks in the room.

You can join in with different activities.

At any time you can leave the session to go home or explore the Museum, we don't mind.

The session will finish at 12.30pm.

If you need to take a break and have a quiet moment at any point, speak with a member of the team and they will show you where to go.

During SENSory Sailors

If you need to leave the room during the session, your adult will go with you. You can take a walk around the Museum and come back when you are ready. You must stay with your adult.

A sensory tent will be available in the room during the workshop. You can use this whenever you want.

If we all need to leave the Museum quickly:

If we need to leave quickly during SENSory Sailors, you will hear an alarm ringing in the building. That means we all need to leave the building quickly and calmly. Just follow a member of staff or these signs.

At the end of the workshop

SENsory Sailors finishes at 12.30pm.

When the session is finished, you can explore more of the Museum or you might go home.
